MEMPHIS APPEAL.

THE CANDIDATES OF THE DEMOCRACY.

The Great Demonstration.

HORATIO SEYMOUR and FRANK P. BLAIR!—These are great names. We accept them heartily, as the Captains o the great Army of the Constitution.

SEYMOUR is a Statesman, worthy to sit in the place of Webster, Clay or Calhoun; a man of broad and comprehensive views; thoroughly educated, as well by experience as reading; a frank, manly, noble gentleman, who has passed through the fiery furnace of New York politics without a stain of dishonor on his name; a man who earnestly and in the utmost good faith endeavered to escape the nomination, and who will honor the office of President far more than the office will honor him.

FRANK P. BLAIR has become a familiar name to the people of the South, whose bloody and brutal tyrants he has denounced since the day when our Southern armies surrendered and the shame and ignominy of our Victors began. Before the war, he was a Republican, but one so genial and generous as to be always welcomed and greatly loved by the circle of gentlemen of a very different political faith, in which we had the honor occasionally to meet him in Washington. In selecting him to be one of its candidates, the Democratic Convention accepts and endorses his bold declaration that the Reconstruction legislation of Congress is unconstitutional and a nullity; and that the mission and duty of the Democratic party is to efface it, with all its consequences, that no trace or vestige of it or them may remain to curse and dishonor the country.

We are not much given to exaggerating that which gives us hope. We know that to exult beyond measure in the anticipation of success, is to make certain an unmanly depression and discouragement in case of defeat. It is said, and perhaps justly, that we are too much inclined to look upon the dark side of the picture; and that the sad and gloomy portraitures that we have sometimes drawn of the actual present and threatened future, have been calculated to discourage and dishearten, to chill the hopefulness of friends and paralyze their energies and zeal, and equally to encourage those who are the birds of prey, the hawks and the vultures, and the noisome vermin and poisonous reptiles, that feed upon or ailing the Commonwealth.

At last, thank God, "the golden rose of Dawn," after the long, dark night of calamity and oppression, begins to glow in the east, for the vexed and persecuted South. The long, dark night!—for minutes of slavery are longer than years of Liberty, and crawl with painful retrogression into the hateful Past.

We are cold enough and calm enough, and enough inclined to despondency, not to be deluded by false hopes, or misled by a momentary enthusiasm. We should not pretend to be confident of success, if we were not so. To delude a people with false hopes is not profitable, even in the day when it is done, and it always bears evil fruit for the future.

Our dawn of hope is no delusive gleam, that gives false promise of the rising of a sun that may not rise at all. We believe that the candidates of Democratic Conservatism will be triumphantly elected. We believe that the eyes of the people of the Northern States are at last unsealed, and that they at last know Radicalism by its accursed fruits in South Carolina and Louisiana, by its corruptions and wasteful expenditure of the moneys wrung from the people by unconstitutional and exorbitant taxation, which the rich can avoid by investing their fortunes in bonds of the Government that are not taxable; but the poor must pay although it takes the bread from the mouths of their children.

We congratulate the Conservative white men of the city of Memphis, whether disfranchised, or allowed the poor privilege of equality with the negro, on the magnificent demonstration of Thursday night; on the zeal, enthusiasm and confidence that lit up the faces and inspired with hope and energy the souls of the assembled thousands, who, thronging together as in a huge amphitheatre, and acknowledging the magical influence of the fair faces that looked down upon them radiant with sympathy, heard, in the words of those who briefly addressed them, the utterance of their own thoughts and their own high hopes and generous resolutions.

We congratulate them on the perfect unison and harmony, not hereafter to be interrupted, that have succeeded a temporary misunderstanding. No one saw the enthusiasm, the order, the decorum of that great assemblage, without feeling that as the men who stood there have but a single object and a common purpose, so they will hereafter have but a single will.

How, indeed, can dissensions spring up? Who, of all the Conservatives of the city is so unworthy as to plot and plan for himself or for a miserable clique or faction? Who is there that did not on that great evening feel lifted up high above all such poor, pitiful, paltry considerations, and resolve to devote himself solely to the service of the country and the enfranchisement of the people? How can an Irishman, remembering Grattan, and Curran, and Emmett, and Wolfe Tone, and Fitzgerald, and Sheil, ally himself with that Despotism which scourges the South with whips of scorpions, forces negroes upon white men as their political equals, cheapens the elective franchise thereby, so that a vote is worth less than a dead rat or a rotten egg, dictates constitutions at the point of the bayonet, annuls in ten Irelands all the sacred guarantees of Magna Charta and the constitutions of the States, and maintains a brutal despotism over eight millions of people absolutely without rights, until it can substitute for this Government those of pitiful minorities of despicable white men, and uncivilized hordes of semi-barbarous negroes. The Irishman who can assist in this assassin's work would be unfit to co-operate in the task of winning independence for his own native land. Can the Teuton, of that great race that so long defied the power of Rome and maintained free institutions in the Germanian forests, be the ally or instrument of a sordid tyranny, like that which squats, in all its ugly deformity, upon the indignant heart of Tennessee, and stamps with its brutal hoofs upon the faces of ten prostrate States? Can he of whose race were Wallenstein and Frederic and Luther, Leibnitz, Goethe and Schiller, recognize without impatience and disgust the ignorant African as his political equal? Will the Italian consent to and tamely accept that degradation, remembering the great names of the Medici, Dante, Tasso, Alfieri and Michael Angelo, of the Dorias and Colonnas and Rienzi, the Tribune of the Roman people? Can he, and the Spaniard who remembers the old Gothic glories of his native land and the renown of the great Gonsalvo, and the Scotsman whose ancestors fought at Flodden-field, and to whom the names of the great men of his race are as household words, consent that the votes of negroes shall control the legislation that affects his rights, taxes his property, and concerns even his domestic relations?

Can the Frenchman to whom the great names of the Republic and the Empire are as heir-looms, be the ally of that faction which has made a jet black negro Lieutenant-Governor over those of his own race, and President of the Senate, and a mulatto Speaker of the House of Representatives of Louisiana? A Frenchman vote to continue over Frenchmen as chivalrous and honorable as himself, the rule and government of ignorant and recently emancipated negroes! It is not possible.

The cause of one is the cause of all. It is not alone the men of American birth who are ruled by military despotism in Mississippi, and over whom negroes are set as task-masters in South Carolina and Louisiana. It is not they alone who are disfranchised in Tennessee. The men of the Latin and Celtic and Teutonic races are equally oppressed, and the same persistent determination is manifested to crush out their pride and self-respect and humiliate and degrade them in their own eyes. Not the Christian only thus experiences the bitter consequences of subjugation, but the men of that people which received its laws from Moses, and defended the Holy City with such constancy against the legions of Titus,—of that race which the Radical candidate for the Presidency included in one broad and comprehensive denunciation, and which was oppressed and persecuted for centuries enough to make its sons ready to sympathize with any people in like manner oppressed, humiliated and outraged.

We congratulate the Conservatives of Memphis that in this great cause of the Constitution and the rights of man against oppression and force and fraud and the destruction of all the old landmarks of Constitutional Government, they are united together as one man, and that all former political differences are forgotten.

We already feel the benefits and are reaping the blessings of our discipline of adversity. We see how unnecessary was the bitterness of our former political controversies, how causeless were our former personal enmities, how unjust and ungenerous our opinions of political adversaries, how dangerous to the country are such party strifes. Those who once had not one charitable feeling for each other are now sincere friends, and the children of dead enemies clasp hands across their fathers' graves.

The people are wiser than they were, and are coming to love the simple truth better than gilded flattery or gaudy rhetoric. They will listen with most attention and respect to the man who speaks frankly and manfully to them the words of truth and soberness. It will be many years before the insincere and shallow demagogue will be acceptable again to the Southern people.

There is no cause for dissedsion among Conservatives. For the sake of the country, let us have none. Let the people at once quietly put aside every man who, assuming to lead or instruct, unconsciously reveals the fact that his own selfish interest is the motive for his action. It shall not be any longer said of us, as it was said after Julius Cæsar fell at the foot of the statue of Pompey in the capitol, that "Octavius had a party, and Antony had a party; but Rome had none."

The Conservative party is the party of the Commonwealth, of the Republic, of the couptry. It is honor and glory enough to serve in it in the ranks. Let those who assume to lead in it see to it that they be capable and fit and competent, or they may come to shame.

Tobacco Fairs.

The annual tobacco fairs at St. Louis and Louisville, on the 8th, were well attended. At the former place the entries were numerous and the competition spirited. The quality of tobacco displayed was, however, inferior to former years.

The first premium for the best hogshead of manufacturing leaf was awarded to James Whiteside, Ballard county, Ky.; second premium to Benjamin Griffith, Graves county, Ky.; third premium to James Buchanan, Ballard county, Ky.

First premium for best hogshead of cutting leaf to W. G. Morris, Cincinnati; second premium to Thomas Rhodus & Co., St. Louis.

First premium for best hogshead of black wrapper to Samuel Edwards; second premium to same.

First premium for best prize hogshead to W. D. Usher, Ballard county, Ky.; second premium to Cole Brothers, St. Louis.

Best ten hogsheads of shipping leaf offered by one party, Lewis, Nanson & Co., St. Louis, for Miller, Cochran & Morgan, Keytzville, Mo.

Best hogshead of manufacturing leaf, raised by a lady, award to Mrs. James Hazlewood, McCracken county, Ky.

After the awards the premium tobacco was sold as follows: Best hogshead of manufacturing leaf, $100 per 100 pounds; second best, $78; third best, $76. Best hogshead of cutting leaf, $50; second best, $39. Best hogshead of black wrapper, $30; second best, $25.

The lady's prize hogshead sold for one hundred and ten dollars.

At Louisville the fair was largely attended by buyers from all parts of the country. There were three hundred and ninety-five hogsheads entered for the various premiums.

The first premium, for Kentucky bright wrapper, was awarded to R. R. Wakefield, of Ballard county, which was bought for $275 per 100 pounds.

The first premium for cutting leaf was awarded to Willie Black, of Mason county, and bought for $65.

The premium for the best five hogsheads cutting leaf was awarded to Willie Black, of Mason. One hogshead was bought for $40; one for $35; three for $31, $32 and $35.

The first premium for black wrapper to B. K. Gould, of Christian county.

The first premium for shipping leaf to W. S. Rellling, of Warren county.

The premium for best ten hogsheads of leaf to W. M. Wilson & Co., of Barren county.

The first premium for prime bright wrapper, Virginia or any other State, to Mrs. Mary Cook, of Hart county; second to S. P. Halsey & Co., of Lynchburg, Va. The Hart county tobacco brought $65 50; the Virginia sold for $95.

SCIENTIFIC JOTTINGS.

—Persons who wear kid gloves in hot weather, and who perspire freely, will find that injury to the gloves will be prevented by applying ordinary corn starch to their hands (dry) before drawing on their gloves.

—Humboldt regards the climate of the Caspian Sea as the most salubrious in the world. Here he found the most delicious fruits that he saw during his travels, and such was the purity of the air that polished steel would not tarnish even by night exposure.

—By means of the electric light a piece of glass can be made to throw a perfectly black shadow. This will be the result provided the two surfaces through which the ray passes are not perfectly parallel, the deepness of the shadow depending upon the variation.

—During a thunder storm at Birmingham, England, meteoric stones from one-eighth to three-eighths of an inch long, and about half those dimensions in thickness, fell in immense quantities in various parts of the town.

—A Mr. Payen is reported in an English exchange as favoring the process of superficial carbonization of timber, as known and practised by the Romans. He recommends that the whole surface of ships should be carbonized, and for this purpose suggests the use of the gas blow-pipe, or when gas is not at hand a blow-pipe and lamp fed with heavy petroleum oils. The carbonization of wood exposed to wet is no doubt useful. It has been employed for many years for preserving fence posts, but it would be rather expensive to apply the process to the hull of a ship as proposed.

JAS. GALLATIN, son of Albert Gallatin, whose name is so honorably connected with the early financial history of this country, has just resigned the presidency of the Gallatin National Bank at New York, which he had held for thirty years.

THE Marquis de Caux, Patti's husband, or affianced, and the hero of many a questionable transaction during the last ten or fifteen years, has got himself into trouble again. He won large stakes at the last Imperial races, and is charged now with having brought about the victory of his favorite horse by very foul means.

AT AURORA, Ind., on Wednesday, Capt. Thomas Owens shot his wife at the house of his mother-in-law. The ball entered her head, and proved fatal in an hour. Owens immediately drew another pistol and shot himself and died instantly. The parties have not been living together for some time owing to family difficulties.

SOME of the German railroad companies employ good looking and respectable young ladies at their ticket and freight officers, and the railroad managers say that the change is a most pleasant and profitable one. The young ladies are most conscientious, and quarrels which, as long as men were employed, occurred very frequently at the ticket offices, have now entirely ceased.

THE New Orleans Times of the 9th says: Gangs of lazy, idle, vagabond negroes continue to hang around the Crow Roost, where the Legislature is in session, and cumber the streets thereunto adjacent. The cause of the assemblage is almost as much a matter of wonder to strangers as it is of disgust to the citizens. One of the former, who had his curiosity aroused at the sight yesterday, ventured to inquire what they were all doing there, but was assured it was all right, they were all s(o)ent to the Legislature.

POPULAR WORKS ON FREEMASONRY

PUBLISHED BY THE

—AND—

MANUFACTURING COMPANY

432 Broome Street, New York.

LITURGY OF THE ANCIENT AND ACcepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, for the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States. By Albert Pike, 33d, sov. Grand Commander. 8vo. Splendidly illustrated with Chromo-lithographic plates and numerous wood engravings, of H. II, 4th to 14th degree, $5 00.

☞ It would perhaps seem unnecessary after giving the above title-page to say anything further in the way of recommendation. The name of the author should of itself be a sufficient guarantee of its worth. Ill. Bro. Pike, by his learning and contributions has done as much to elevate the standard of Masonic literature and extend a knowledge of its symbolism, ethics and history as any other living man. This book, in its particular department, may justly be considered a master-piece, embracing matter not only useful to the Masonic student of every grade, but to men of science in the highest literary field of the present age. Notwithstanding this book has been preceded by several of a similar character, yet to Bro Pike alone is due the honor of first exploring this branch of Masonic literature and of opening to the admiration of the Craft its vast storehouse of knowledge and beauty. This work contains the degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Rite from the fourth to the fourteenth inclusive, is elegantly illustrated with chromo-lithograph engravings, showing all the jewels, costume, furniture, etc., belonging to each degree. No expense has been spared in getting it up, and it is without doubt the most elegant, as well as one of the most useful books, ever offered the Fraternity.

Published and for sale by the Masonic Publishing and Manufacturing Company, 432 Broome street, New York, and Bookseller generally in the United States.

☞ Copies of the above for the Memphis Brethren are ready for delivery at the Editorial Room of the APPEAL, 14 Jefferson street, up-stairs. 1w jan29

By Rev. R. H. RIVERS.

SUBSCRIPTIONS are solicited to this work, which, when compiled, will embrace between four and five hundred 12 mo. pages, printed upon calendered paper in bold, clear type, and bound in a creditable manner.

Gen. HASKELL was one of the most brilliant men and eloquent orators that Tennessee has ever given to our common country. This will be shown not only by a brief and truthful narrative of the chief incidents of his eventful life, but by presenting the reader with his Remains, consisting of Poems, Essays, Letters and Orations.

If the personal friends and admirers of the great Tennessean will subscribe liberally at once, the work can be delivered by November, 1868.

The profits arising from the sale of the work will be devoted to erecting a monument to his memory.

Terms—$3 per copy, payable on delivery.

THE TAX ON SALES OF MERCHANDIZE.

A question has for some time been agitated here, and is now under judicial consideration, of very grave importance, not only or even chiefly, as it might at first appear, to our merchants, but also and far more to those who consume what merchants and dealers sell.

We speak of the tax attempted to be levied on all sales of merchandize.

The General Revenue Act of 1858, which prescribes the rate of taxation on property and privileges, designates the property and privileges declared taxable; and prescribes the mode of collection. Among these privileges is that of the business of merchant, the provision in regard to which, reads thus: "The following shall be the rate of taxation: * * * On sales of merchandize, by merchants, half a cent on the dollar, on the invoice cost at the place where purchased, unless the tax upon the same has once before been paid to the State, in which event no additional tax shall be paid.

No business which is lawful, and which the people of the State have a common right, without distinction of persons, to engage in and carry on, can be made a privilege, by being forbidden unless the party desiring to embark in it will pay a certain tax or obtain a license. If that could be done, there is no kind of trade, business, employment or manual labor, even to the making of hats and shoes, and working a field that may not by legislative leger-de-main be transmuted into a privilege. No such common and lawful trade, occupation or business is, or can be made, a privilege. That word has a definite and fixed meaning in the English law, and according to a rule that has no exception, must be taken to be used in the Constitution of Tennessee in the same well-known sense which it had in England. It means a right granted to a particular person to do something, to the exclusion of others, which all men have not a common right to do; as, for example, to keep a ferry and receive toll at a given place.

The Legislature of Arkansas once attempted to make the keeping a billiard table and the keeping a stallion privileges, and to tax them as such. But the Supreme Court of that State decided that privileges could not be thus created, and annulled the law. And the same Court held also that, even if the Legislature could prohibit an act as unlawful, they could not declare it to be so unless the party would pay a certain sum for a license to authorize him to do it.

With as much right could a Legislature declare the business of merchant or shoemaker a franchise, and tax it as such, or undertake to make faro-dealing a privilege. The Legislature cannot forbid the exercise of the common trades by the people. Such a power would be contrary to the first principles on which free government is founded, and be hostile to the very purposes for which the Constitution declares itself to have been made. The chief purpose of civil government is to enable the citizens peaceably to carry on any lawful trade or business, by which to maintain themselves and those dependent on them.

It is too clear for argument, that a tax of so much per centum on sales of merchandize, is not a tax on a privilege; and therefore, as such, such a tax is unconstitutional and void.

An act was passed in 1865, to amend the revenue laws, which repeated in so many words the provision which we have quoted from the act of 1858.

On the 15th of March, 1868, an act passed amending the Revenue laws. The first clause of the first section declares that the act of 1865 shall "be and the same is hereby amended so that the following RATE of taxation shall be levied and collected." It then declares an increased rate of taxation on property and privileges, and fixes the tax on merchants for licenses at one per cent on the dollar on the invoice cost at the place where purchased, of all goods, and concludes by requiring a semi-annual statement of his purchases, by every merchant, to be made to the County Clerk.

The clerk of the County Court construes this law as repealing the clause in the law of 1865, by which goods on which the tax had once been paid to the State could not be again taxed. He is as clearly in error as it is possible for a man to be. It is not necessary even to rely on the principle, established as law for three hundred years in England and America, that repeals by implication are not to be favored; for there is no ground in this case for implying such a repeal. It cannot be implied from the fact that the act of 1868 does not repeat and re-enact the provision in question of the acts of 1858 and 1865.

The act of 1868 distinctly declares its purpose to be to amend the former act so as to increase the former rate of taxation. This expression of its single purpose excludes, according to another general principle, the conclusion that it was intended to amend the former act in any other particular. Indeed, in law, reason and common sense, this declaration of its intention is fully equivalent to saying that it did not propose to amend the former law, except as to the rate of taxation.

An affirmative provision of a later statute does not repeal an affirmative provision of a former one, unless they are so contrary to and inconsistent with one another that both cannot stand. Both are in pari materia, and must so be construed ut res magis valeat quam pereat, so that effect shall be given, if possible, to all the provisions of both.

In Davies v. Fairbairn, 3 Howard U. S. Rep. 636, the Supreme Court of the United States held that, "In affirmative Statutes, such parts of the prior as may be incorporated into the subsequent Statute, as consistent with it, must be continued in force. It was also held, that if a subsequent Statute be not repugnant in all its provisions to a prior one, yet if the later Statute clearly intended to prescribe the only rules which should govern, it repeals the prior one. The Clerk may have thought that the law of 1863 repeals the provision in question of the former acts, by requiring all merchants to render semi-annual statements. No such consequence follows from that, because each must necessarily have reported his sales and invoice prices under the former laws, as well, and pay the tax accordingly, except so far as he could show that it had been before paid on the same invoices. It devolved on him to make that proof. The later law, in this case, does not clearly intend to prescribe the only rules that are to govern. It clearly intends only to increase the rate of taxation, for it declares this to be its object. It does not say that it is its only object; but it declares no other, and no other can be implied.

In the case cited above, the Supreme Court said that the question whether, because a later act in regard to conveyances of real estate, intended as a revision of prior statutes, made no provision authorizing a mayor of a city to take the acknowledgement of a married woman, that provision in the former act was repealed by it. "In this respect," the Court said, "it is clear there is no repugnancy between the two acts. The two provisions may well stand together, the latter as cumulative to the former.

. . . There is no express repeal, no repugnancy . . . nor, on this point, are there any words of the latter act, which show an intention to make its provisions exclusive."

The Court quoted from the decision in Wood v. The United States, 16 Peters, 362, where the same Court said, of a prior statute: "That it has not been expressly, or by direct terms, repealed, is admitted; and the question resolves itself into the more narrow inquiry, whether it has been repealed by necessary implication. We say by necessary implication, for it is not sufficient to establish that subsequent laws cover some or even all the cases provided for by it; for they may be merely affirmative, or cumulative, or auxiliary. But there must be a positive repugnancy between the provisions of the new laws and those of the old; and even then the old law is repealed by implication, only pro tanto, to the extent of the repugnancy.

And the court cited and adopted these words of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky: "Virtual repeals are not favored by Courts. A body of acts ought to be held as one act, so far as they do not conflict with each other."

The acts of 1865 and 1868 are to be considered as one act, as if the act of 1865 were repeated in all its words, with no change except the increased rate of taxation.

In Canal Company v. Rail-road Company, 4 Gill & John. 152, the Court of Appeals of Maryland held that all statutes in pari materia are construed as one law; that "repeals of statutes by implication are things disfavored by law, and never allowed of, but when the inconsistency and repugnancy are plain and unavoidable;" that "if laws and statutes seem contrary to one another, yet if by interpretation they may stand together, they shall stand; and when two laws only so far disagree or differ, as that by any other construction they may both stand together, the rule that subsequent laws abrogate prior and contrariant laws, does not apply, and the last law is no repeal of the former:" and, that, "when it is manifestly the intention of the Legislature, that a subsequent act shall not control the provisions of a former act, the subsequent act shall not have such operation, even though the words of it taken strictly and grammatically, would repeal the former act."

These principles, the Court said, had been recognized and adopted by the Courts, from the time of Rolle, Plowden and Coke, to this day. And they cited Williams vs. Pritchard, 4 Term. Rep. 2, where the question was, whether a house built on land recovered from the Thames, and by the prior law exempted from all taxes and assessments whatever, was liable to be assessed to the general land tax imposed by a later act. Lord Kenyon held that though the words of the later act were sufficiently large to subject the land, yet that the former act exempting it was not repealed, on the ground that it was not considered to have been the intention of the Legislature to repeal it.

In Beals v. Hale, 4 Howard 51, the Supreme Court of the United States said, "It is a well-settled principle of construction, . . . that statutes which apparently conflict with each other are to be reconciled, as far as may be, on any fair hypothesis, and validity given to each, if it can be and is necessary to conform to usages under them, or to preserve the titles of property undisturbed. . . . A second law on the same subject does not repeal a former one, without a repealing clause or negative words, unless so clearly repugnant as to imply a negative."

In Bowen vs. Lease, 5 Hill, 226, the Supreme Court of New York said: "It is but reasonable to conclude that the Legislature, in passing this tatute, did not intend to interfere with or abrogate any former law relating to the same matter, unless the repugnancy between the two is unreconcileable. Hence a repeal by implication is not favored; on the contrary, courts are bound to uphold the prior law, if the two acts may subsist together." It is equally reasonable to suppose that the Legislature intends to repeal a former law only so far and in such respects as it declares its intention, when it does so at all.

Of course that is a question of great interest and importance here, especially to the consumer, who in the end pays the tax on goods purchased by him, as part of the price enhanced for it. For if the same goods are sold three or four times over, after they come into the State in the hands of the importer, the tax will amount to three or four per cent. on the cost; and the consumer in the country, who comes here to purchase of the city merchant, finding himself burthened with this onerous and unreasonable tax, by way of addition to the price of the goods, will for the future prefer to look to other cities, where no such tax is paid, for his goods. It is quite obvious that to impose this additional burthen on the commerce of Memphis is necessarily to cause this consequence, or to compel the merchants, in order to retain the country trade, themselves to bear part of the burthen, without adding it all to the price of the goods; and this additional load it is certain, our merchants are not able to carry.

The great leading principle, in all the States, with regard to taxation, is that it shall be equal and uniform. It is evident that no tax could be more unequal and less uniform, than this on merchandize, if the decision of the clerk of the County Court is correct; because those would pay one or two per cent. more than others, on all goods and provisions and fuel purchased by them, who are least able to bear such a tax, that is, those of narrow means, and the day-laborers, who are compelled to purchase from small dealers.

There is no possible doubt that the decision of which we speak, is utterly erroneous: and as little that it would give protection, by a protective tariff, to foreign merchants against our own, and make the poor bear far more than their fair and proper proportion of the expenses and burthen of Government.

The question whether a State can directly tax goods in the original bales, packages or vessels, in the hands of the importer, or indirectly, by requiring a license to sell them, is not an open question. It has been so decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, and is settled. But when they have been imported into Louisiana, and are purchased there and brought here, they may be taxed by this State, though in the original packages, bales or vessels. So it was here in the License Cases, in 5 Howard.

We do not believe that goods in the possession of a merchant here, can be taxed otherwise than as property. A tax on the amount of sales, or on the cost of the goods, is not a tax on a privilege. And there is no doubt, we think, according to the settled rules of construction, that the same goods can only be once taxed. That they ought not to be, is too clear to need argument.

"THAT AMNESTY."

The New York Herald without much reason congratulates President Johnson on his last Proclamation of Amnesty. It says:

So far as he can, Mr. Johnson has given the finishing touch to the work of reconstruction. In the proclamation he declares that the time has arrived when civil law should be supreme in the South; that there is no reasonable ground for apprehending a renewal of the rebellion; that pains and penalties for offenses committed and long since expiated are unnecessary, and that a continued military rule, denial of the right of trial by jury and suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in a time of profound peace are prejudicial to and in conflict with the spirit of our republican institutions. One class, therefore, Jefferson Davis is the only man remaining unpardoned, and he would probably have been made a subject of Executive clemency had not his indictment for treason prevented it.

This latest official act of the President will be received with satisfaction throughout the country, for although the number of persons benefited by the proclamation is comparatively small, it comprises the leading men of the South. So long as they were kept alienated from the mass of their fellow-citizens and held liable to indictments and trials on charges of treason, so long was the work of pacification incomplete. Such men as Robert E. Lee, Joseph E. Johnston and other rebel leaders are the true representatives of the Southern people, and it is well that their disabilities have been removed, at least to the extent that the Executive can remove them. We have nothing to fear from them in the future, and there is much to hope from men who, however mistaken their cause, fought us with a valor which has made the name of an American known throughout the civilized world as the synonym for heroism.

We feel a profound pleasure that on this day there dwells no political pariah in the United States.

And the National Intelligencer ecstatically cries:

Most fitting, indeed, this glorious season for an act of universal forgiveness. Let no man's joy, on reviewing with pride ninety-two such days celebrated by his fathers, and to be celebrated by his sons forever, be disturbed by the clanking chain about a fellow citizen's neck. Long enough he has worn it. They who stand already before the bar of judicial justice await the determination of their country in the appointed jury box. But all the rest should be forgiven. Let the rebel who testified in the storm of battle his sincerity and his manhood to his cause, and who has languished for years, impoverished, proscribed, broken and humbled, be placed on his feet the man he has proven himself to be. Let him go this day to his children and tell them he is again a participant in working the political fabric which overhangs their heads. Let him tell them the voice of the brave has at last been heard, and the malice of the ignoble at last been silenced, and the AMNESTY OF GOOD GOVERNMENT PROCLAIMED TO ALL.

We congratulate the suffering on their relief; the proud on their restoration; the honorable on the confidence reposed in them by their country, and the humble, who may happen to be included in this evangel, that our institutions respect not persons. And most heartily do we congratulate all of our countrymen that nothing remains in the Councils of State of the long, distressing and disastrous interval of civil strife since 1860. All is closed in the books of the Government. The past was present in a manner—it is now history. Let it be seen and known as history, to be scanned by the historian in the severest historical spirit, but by a free and generous fellowship of citizens, viewed as a troubled dream that is past. Public business no longer knows a rebellion, save as the courts of inland commerce take testimony of witnesses in solitary trials, according to the laws of peace, or as the legislature yields to grounds and reasons for new statutes, drawn from the buried bitterness of a past lamentation.

There is no universal forgiveness. There is another partial and unjust amnesty. "The amnesty of good government is not proclaimed to all. Jefferson Davis is not the only man, by hundreds, perhaps, remaining unpardoned. Breckinridge is not pardoned. General Lee is not, for he and many others stand indicted. The Herald feels too soon its profound pleasure; for many a political Pariah dwells in the United States. There are 60,000 white men who cannot vote in Tennessee alone.

An indictment for treason does not in the least effect the President's power to pardon. Surely the Herald knows that. Andrew Johnson was afraid to pardon Mr. Davis and Mr. Breckinridge and General Lee; and that is the whole secret of the poor, miserable half-measure he adopted. Why does he not defy scalawagism, pardon all, and tell his enemies to do their worst? What if they should impeach and depose him? Men have incurred severer penalties than that, for refusing to consent to be robbed of their rights and privileges.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—A New York dry goods concern has 150 clerks, of whom three are paid $10,000 a year each.

—It is proposed to take down the signboards "Look out for the engine" on the Erie Railroad, and substitute for them "Prepare to meet your God."

—The Senate Committee on Claims has reported in favor of allowing O. H. Cutler, of Hannibal, Mo., $50,000 for cotton belonging to him and seized by Gen. Grant at Lake Providence, La., in 1863, to be used in protecting the boats that run the blockade at Vicksburg.

—Two millions of dollars were represented in the crinoline that recently occupied a chair on the piazza of a Saratoga hotel.

—Miss Eliza Mary Burke, the young lady who was arrested in Baltimore for wearing a Confederate flag in 1861, in that city, and whose removal and subsequent trial in Howard county created such interest at the time, died in Baltimore last Saturday.

—Henry Ward Beecher profanely says if the Lord wanted to make millstones, he would make them from the Anglo-Saxon race; they have so much grit in them.

—At a meeting of the London Medical Society, Dr. Blake, a distinguished practitioner, said that he was able to cure the most desperate case of toothache, unless the disease was connected with rheumatism, by the application of the following remedy: Alum, reduced to an impalpable powder, two drachms; nitrous spirits of ether, seven drachms; mix and apply to the tooth.

—A Havana letter says: Tayne Partagas, the owner of the celebrated cigar manufactory known all through the world, was shot in the Visalta Abajo country, whither he had gone to look after the tobacco crop, a few days since. The assassin escaped, and the police are making strenuous exertions to find him. Mr. Partagas was about fifty years of age. The stories in circulation regarding the cause of the murder are very conflicting, but the one which appears to receive the most credence is that he had seduced the daughter of a small farmer whom he was assisting. Mr. Partagas has a large family of grown-up children, and this story should be viewed with a great deal of doubt, until the facts of the case are thoroughly ascertained.

Stevens and Greeley.

These two teachers are at loggerheads. Stevens lately termed Greeley a scarecrow. Greeley responded with a deplorable effort at wit, and concluded with this piece of ill-nature:

We cannot consider a national debt a national blessing any more than a personal debt is a personal blessing—we greatly desire to pay off principal at the rate of one hundred millions per annum till there is none left to pay. We understand that paying debt means harder work, more frugal living, less considerable accumulations of property, than if we did not owe. But Mr. Stevens has a very different notion of debt. Our two thousand millions of interest bearing national debt he holds can be extinguished by offering the holders greenbacks for their bonds, dollar for dollar, and thereupon refusing to pay interest on them a day longer. That is to say: for a debt which specifically draws interest in gold at six per cent. per annum, the principal being payable within twenty years at farthest, he holds that we can tender the face in greenbacks drawing no interest at all and payable never, and if our creditors do not accept these we may tell them to whistle for their money. He calls this paying—we deem it swindling so barefaced that no blackleg in New York or Washington could resort to it without being cut by his fellow blacklegs as a low, contemptible villain. It is inevitable, therefore, that our notions of "twenty per cent. (or any per cent.) extra" should differ widely from those of Mr. Stevens.

KING KAMEHAMAHA, of the Sandwich Islands, has a most unwarrantable dislike for the United States. He recently expressed such a nervousness at the presence of the United States steamer Lackawanna in the harbor of Honolulu that it was deemed a Christian duty to withdraw her, and it was done accordingly. The latest advices from the King are to the effect that, emboldened probably by the success of this effort, he loudly declares that if the United States troubles him he will hoist the British flag and claim British protection. While the nervous fellow has been carrying on in this manner, his Legislature has voted a subsidy for a line of steamers to San Francisco.

THE claims of the Mexican bondholders against the Government of France are to be settled upon the basis of a report of the Committee of the Budget of the French Legislature, the report having received the sanction of the Council of State. While it is declared that France not guaranteed the loans, and is conclusively established that the bondholders had no other debtor than the Mexican Government, it is concluded, all the circumstances considered, that it would be equitable to raise four millions of rentes as an indemnity to the bondholders, to be granted only upon condition that they give up their scrip and abandon all further claims.

—The Somerville (Tenn.) Falcon of the 9th, says: On Monday last we had a shower of rain which served to lay the dust, and for the time cool the atmosphere, but was hardly sufficient to be of much benefit to corn, cotton and vegetables. In various sections of the county we learn an abundance of rain has fallen within the last few days, which has greatly improved the growing crops.

Severe and True.

The following resolution was recently adopted by a Conservative Convention of of Soldiers and Sailors:

Resolved, That a general who is false to his chief, and a cabinet officer who is false to his fellow-citizens, who forfeits the bond of his word to do the bidding of partisans, who intrigues for civil preferment with dissatisfied politicians, while at the same time he retains the control of the army, deserves, and should receive, the stern rebuke of a people whose liberties he strives to subvert; and that, if U. S. Grant were the purest of truthful men, the gigantic wrong of his political schemes would overbalance the gratitude which, as a successful soldier, he might claim.

DIED.

GOULD—On Sunday, July 12, 1868, F. A. Gould, in the 47th year of his age.

The friends and acquaintances of his brother, John W. Gould, are requested to attend his funeral from the house of Blakemore & Co., 210 Front street, at 4 o'clock Monday evening.

CITY MATTERS.

NOTICE.

City subscribers to the APPEAL, daily or weekly, who may desire to leave the city for the summer, can have their papers sent them regularly by leaving a memorandum at the Counting-room of the APPEAL, No. 13 Jefferson street.

TO THE PATRONS OF THE APPEAL.

Subscribers are requested to report to the Superintendent of Circulation, at our Counting-room, No. 13 Jefferson street, any irregularities or failures on the part of our carriers in delivering their papers promptly and regularly. Any complaint will be immediately attended to.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Correspondents who wish to have any attention paid to their communications must observe the following rules:

Be brief, concise and to the point, avoid the "flowers of rhetoric," and confine yourself to a plain statement of facts. Write on but one side of the paper, in a clear hand, and with pen and ink, giving your words and sentences plenty of room. In all cases the real name and address of the writer must accompany the manuscript. Articles which redound to personal or individual benefit, or are of a personal nature, will only be inserted as "advertisements" or "paid cards."

LATE PAPERS.—We are indebted to Felix Cross, Esq., of the Southern Express Company, for the latest Southern and Eastern papers.

WICKERSHAM.—No further developments have been made in the affairs of this quondam official. He is still under arrest, and matters will no doubt culminate to-day.

BITTEN BY A RABID DOG.—We were pained to learn that an old and well-known citizen, Mr. D. H. Tuttle, was bitten by a rabid dog yesterday afternoon, on the corner of Union and DeSoto streets. Is there not some law in reference to the muzzling of dogs that are allowed to run loose in the streets? If there is, it should most assuredly be enforced.

"LEAVE home to get the news from there," is an old saying always being verified. The following is another instance of its truth: "Judge Keckley, husband of Mrs. Keckley, dress-maker to Mrs. Lincoln, and author of the gossipy book about the Lincoln family, died in Memphis the other day. The book was too much for him, poor man!"

JUDGE WALDRAN ENJOINED.—We learned on Saturday night that the Chancellor had granted an injunction on Judge Waldran at the prayer of S. B. Beaumont et al, but we could learn no particulars. We suppose that this will effectually put a stopper on the Judge for some time to come, and that Messrs. Beaumont, Burditt & Co., will get what they seem to desire—a trial before a judge that is not prosecutor, witness and judge.

SUN STROKE.—During the present heated term, the following directions for the treatment of sun-stroke should be known to every one. We have seen it tried, and have seldom known it to fail: Let the person thus affected be removed to a cool and private place, his clothing taken off, and the body rubbed from head to foot with large pieces of ice, at the same time that pieces of ice are kept in the arm-pits. This simple treatment, if steadily persevered in, will save cases which seem almost desperate, and there is reason to believe, under any other treatment, would certainly prove fatal.

ST. PETER'S SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The semi-annual distribution of prizes of this Sunday school took place at St. Peter's yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Rev. Fathers Kelly and Fortune. There were some seven hundred prizes distributed in all, among which were two beautiful gold medals, one of which was awarded to Miss Mary J. Jacobs, and the other to Master M. T. McMahon. This is one of the most flourishing and best managed institutions of the kind in our county. There are forty-six teachers—ladies and gentlemen—the ladies under the charge of the Dominican Sisters of Notre Dame de la Salette, and Miss Julia Semmes, and the gentlemen under the Rev. Father Kelly. We did not learn the number of scholars—which is several hundred, however.

THE SAFEST INVESTMENT.—A friend of ours, who made a narrow escape from being victimized out of his little savings—the proceeds of many an hour of hard work—by the failure of a banking institution a few days since, asked us what was the safest manner to invest it. After a little thought, we advised him to invest it in a non-forfeiting life insurance policy; for we have long since been convinced of the truthfulness of that remark of De Morgan's, "There is nothing in the commercial world which approaches, even remotely, to the security of a well-established and prudently managed life assurance company." It is an historical fact that Life Insurance Companies thrive on the ruins of other financial concerns; for by the mishaps of others, money is increased in value, and it is in money that these institutions deal. So, to make a long story short, we advised him to pay a visit to Messrs. McMahon & Otis, No. 48 Madison street, the agents of the ST. LOUIS MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, and let them get him out a non-forfeiting policy—which, being a wise man, he did.

A BRUTAL HUSBAND.

A Wife Killed by Cruelty and Neglect.

Crocodile Tears.

One of the most appalling and outrageous cases of brutality, cruelty, and criminal neglect that has ever come under our notice, was related to us yesterday, and that from a source that leaves no room for a doubt of the perfect accuracy of the statement in every particular. We have withheld names on account of the high standing of the relatives of the parties, but the following are the outlines of the story as it was related to us: At the close of the war, the nephew of a prominent merchant of this city returned from the army with very dissipated habits, and acted in such a manner as to be "thrown off" to a certain extent by his relatives. In the spring of 1866, he fell in love with and married a very nice and pretty girl, who was only fourteen years old—he being some twenty-four or five. In hopes that he had reformed, his relatives established him in a small dairy farm, some two or three miles south of Memphis, where for a time he and his little wife seemed to enjoy the utmost happiness. As is usual, however, in such cases, the infatuation which led them to rush into matrimony so hastily, soon were off, and they began to live very unhappily together. He soon again took to hard drinking, which he had in a measure left off, and when in his drunken fits was in the habit of abusing, and even striking her. The poor girl, so rudely awakened to the stern realities of the life of misery which she had entailed upon herself, endured all of his brutalities almost without a murmur, and, though urged to leave him by his and her relatives, refused to do so.

Things went on in this manner until the 4th inst., when he came to the city and, as usual, got drunk. Returning home late in the afternoon he was thrown from his wagon and his face and head seriously cut and bruised. His wife was waiting for his return, and when she saw him reeling towards the house, with his head and face all covered with blood, she imagined that something terrible had happened to him, whom she still loved, though so cruelly deceived and maltreated by him, and she fainted away. When the drunken brute entered the house and saw the servant chafing her lifeless hands and trying to restore her to consciousness, he asked what was the matter, and on being told, said he would "d—d soon bring her to," and gave her several kicks, leaving her there to revive as best she might.

The shock and brutal treatment carried the poor young thing to her sick bed, which she only left as a corpse, four days afterward. During her illness he would not allow a physician to be called, and when she begged him for one, replied by saying she did not need anything but castor oil, and he could give her that himself. Of course the poor sufferer could not take the nauseous dose, and her refusal only made the brutal fiend more savage. He would leave her for nearly the whole day completely alone, with no attendance whatever, and when she died, was asleep in the room, and could with difficulty be awakened.

As soon as she was dead he sent for a physician, and seemed to be perfectly heart-broken. The physician, knowing nothing of the circumstances, of course, gave him credit for being a devoted husband. Not so, however, the neighbors, whom he now annoys with his moans, and groans, and crocodile tears, one of whom detailed this story to us.

Taking it all in all, it is a piece of unparalleled brutality, and the wretch deserves the scorn and indignation of every decent man, woman and child in the community.

SOMETHING NOT GENERALLY KNOWN to our business men is the fact that we have in our midst an institution whereby in giving credit they can guard themselves from being imposed on by the unworthy. We refer to the mercantile agency of Messrs. R. G. Dun & Co., whose advertisement appears in another column, and of which Mr. S. B. Wright, formerly of New Orleans, is the resident manager. We took a chance last week to spend an hour or so in their office (on the corner of Main and Madison, up stairs in the bank building), and thoroughly examined their books and arrangements for obtaining and giving information in all business matters. We have no hesitation in saying that the system is perfect, and that no business house, wholesale, jobbing, commission or banking, should fail to avail themselves of the immense and incalculable advantages that are offered by an access to their records, and a copy of their reference book. Indeed, the importance and value of these records can hardly be overrated. The new edition of their reference book contains the names and ratings of over four hundred thousand individuals and firms doing business in all parts of the United States and Canadas. The house of R. G. Dun & Co. is the oldest in this business in existence, having been established in 1841, and is generally known to all business men, without further notice from us. We only request our merchants to give Mr. Wright, the resident manager, a call, and they will soon be satisfied of the truth of all we have said and the utility of the institution.

MEMPHIS, July 12, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

In an article published in your paper this morning, it is intimated that the bill in chancery filed by me against Geo. W. Waldran, to restrain him from acting as Judge of the Municipal Court, was for the purpose of preventing a trial of the indictments found by the Grand Jury, and was not consistent with the card heretofore published courting investigation.

In reply, permit me to say that this cannot possibly have any such effect, and was not filed with any such intention. The indictments cannot be in any way affected by the removal of an incompetent Judge, and neither myself or my associates have had any disposition to prevent the fullest examination by the Grand Jury. But when the "prosecutor" in indictments found by his own dictation proposes to go through the farce of trying them, I certainly have a right to object. I am ready to be tried upon them or any other charges before an impartial and legal tribunal. Such, too, is my right, which I am endeavoring to enforce. Respectfully yours.
A. P. BURDITT.

SPLENDID LUNCHES.—Free lunches are a strictly American institution, and in no part of America are they more in vogue than in this part of the Southwest. And we may add that nowhere in this region are finer, nicer, more elegant lunches set than at the Monroe Exchange, by Vetter Dreizigacker, No. 35 Monroe street. Hot lunch, consisting of soup, meats, vegetables and relishes, every day at 10 o'clock. Best of wines and liquors at the bar, and ice cold lager always fresh on draught. Beer five cents a glass, except at lunch time, when it is ten cents.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING AT BARTLETT.

BARTLETT, TENN., July 11, 1868.—Pursuant to notice there was a large meeting of the Democracy of the Seventh district at Bartlett on Saturday, July 11, 1868. The meeting was called to order by Esquire Mercer, who moved that J. Milton Shelby, Esq., take the chair. The motion was carried unanimously, and Esquire Shelby presided. On motion, Mr. H. L. Priddy was chosen secretary. The chairman explained that the first business of the meeting was to ratify the National Democratic nomination for President and Vice President, which was heartily and unanimously adopted.

The organization of the Democratic Club of Shelby county was most cordially approved of, and all present publicly expressed a willingness to unite with the same, and go to work in earnest to achieve a glorious victory in the forthcoming Presidential contest. The people of this district are in earnest, and a Democratic majority will be polled at this precinct. You may depend upon it. The enrolling committee in this district will give every voter and male citizen who was a voter before Brownlow's "lay-out" got possession, an opportunity of uniting with the Democratic Club of Shelby county. The wisdom displayed by the National Convention in selecting such men as Horatio Seymour and Francis P. Blair for our standard-bearers, is proof of its earnestness to insure victory in November. Throughout the length and breadth of America the thunder of Democracy will be heard in such accents that Radicalism will hide its "woolly" head so effectually that it will never more be seen or heard of. The enthusiasm evinced now is only a precursor of what is to come when the campaign is fully opened.

On motion, the APPEAL, Avalanche and Ledger were requested to publish these proceedings.

The object for which the meeting was called having been accomplished, thereupon adjourned.

J. M. SHELBY, Chairman.
H. L. PRIDDY, Secretary.

POLICE ITEMS.

—There were fourteen arrests up to eight o'clock last night in the Second District.

—Lucy Smith, Mollie Davis and Julia McCune, three sable nymphs, who seem zealous of imitating the fame of "the female burglar," of whose heroinic deeds and tragic end we have heard in the old ballad, attacked Powhatan Barnett, a colored cuss, and robbed him of fifty dollars, on the high way. They were jugged in the Causey station, and will have a hearing to-day.

—Officer Kuhnholz, of the Second District police, killed the mad dog that bit Mr. Tuttle yesterday.

ANOTHER DEMOCRATIC CLUB.—The young men of the city are active in the work of organizing Democratic clubs for the Presidential campaign. Every ward is aglow with patriotism and energy, and we learn of several organizations already at work in a single ward. As will be seen from the following call, it is proposed to organize this evening an Independent Club, open to all wards. The callers are gentlemen of ability and influence, and will not fail to rally around them a crowd of kindred spirits:

A meeting of the young men of Memphis, friendly to the election of Seymour and Blair, is called to take place this evening over the Engine House, corner of Adams and Second streets, for the purpose of organizing a Seymour Club, for the campaign. The meeting will commence at 8 o'clock. A general invitation is extended.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A boat race came off on Saturday evening, on Wolf river, between the rowboats Ivanhoe and Lizzie. The Ivanhoe came off victor by about one length in a race of two and a half miles.

Our informant was in error in reference to the Star wharf-boat being in the hands of the sheriff. That officer has no claim whatever upon her.

The City of Cairo, Capt. Crane, backs out to-day at 6 p.m. for Cairo and St. Louis. She connects with the trains and with the Northern line packets for St. Paul. Billy Blenker is chief clerk of Cairo, and is a clever gentleman.

The Commercial, Capt. Wm. Ashford, leaves to-morrow for White river. She is the regular U. S. mail packet, connecting with the Little Rock train at Devall's Bluff.

The gay Mollie Hambleton backs out for the St. Francis to-morrow evening. She is the only packet in the trade. Paine, Clark and Shellare her clerks.

The Ozark is the regular U. S. mail packet for the Arkansas to-day. She is commanded by Capt. E. C. Moreten, and Jimmy Thompson is Secretary. The Ozark is light and will go through without fail or delay.

The ladies of the vicinity are raising money to remove the Confederate dead killed at and near Island No. 10, and buried upon the banks of the Mississippi. The banks of the river are falling in, and it is feared another rise will sweep these graves away.

High prices of board, whisky and other little things in New York, caused Durff to seize his carpet bag and exit from that city, after remaining there only two or three days. It is not now known where he is, but a search will be made through the tombs by his friends before they return. He is the man who wanted the vote of this district cast as a eunuch for Pendatum and greenbacks.

By an ordinance of the city of St. Louis, no melons grown south of the latitude of Cape Girardeau are allowed to be sold in that city at retail. We should pass an ordinance that no people who have been raised North of the Ohio should be permitted to land in this city. It would be eminently proper and about as sensible as the St. Louis affair.

Capt. Jim Chenoweth now commands the Lorena, and is loading her at Cincinnati for New Orleans.

The Natoma dropped down to the Cincinnati levee on Friday, in splendid order, having been docked and thoroughly repaired, repainted and refitted throughout. Capt. Jim Lee is highly delighted with the manner in which the mechanics have executed their contracts. She will be here to resume in a few days her trips to Friar's Point.

There is scant five feet in the lower Ohio and the channel is very flat and undefined.

The Dexter has laid up at Cairo.

The tow-boat Wild Hoosier, which sunk a short time ago about eight miles below Cincinnati, was raised, but sunk again before reaching Cincinnati, and is being wrecked.

The local inspectors at Cincinnati, in the case of the steamer Magnolia explosion, have revoked the license of the engineer on watch. The inspectors attribute the explosion to the absence of water in the middle boiler.

The delegation sent by Mobile to St. Louis and other Western cities for the purpose of enlisting their co-operation in the project of opening direct communication with the Mississippi river and the great West via Bayou Manchac, made a report of their progress to the merchants and citizens of Mobile. They consider that the opening of direct water communication with the West was a foregone conclusion, and whether Bayou Manchac be the point or not, the necessities of the West demanded it, and it must be done sooner or later.

Captain Samuel Barr, jr., clerk of the steamer Great Republic, was arrested at St. Louis on the 10th by order of Capt. Lee, chief of police, on information deemed so entirely reliable that the grand jury found a true bill against him for murder in the first degree, in connection with the shooting of Henry Anderson, a colored man, aboard the Great Republic, some days ago. It is said that the grand jury has found a bill against Captain Donaldson.

Creditors and Non-Resident Notice.

In Chancery Court of Memphis, Tennessee.
No. 2485, N. R. L.—W. N. Wilkerson, et al., vs. The Franklin Insurance and Banking Company, et al,

In this cause it appearing that defendants Joseph F. Imbs, John F. Meyer and Louis Fuss (firm of "Imbs, Meyer & Fuss"), are non-residents of the State of Tennessee; it is therefore ordered by the Court, that they make their appearance herein, on or before the first Monday in May, 1869, and answer or demur to complainant's bill, or the same will be taken for confessed as to them, and cause set for hearing ex parte. It is further ordered that all persons claiming to be creditors, or having any character of estrands, against the "Franklin Insurance and Banking Company of Memphis," shall immediately come into this Court and have themselves made parties to this suit, and file their claims with the Clerk and Master, with proper evidence of the same, that they may severally recover their ratable shares of the assets of said Company to be distributed in this cause; and that a copy of this order be published in the Memphis Daily Appeal for three (3) months from this date.

March 10, 1868.

A copy—attest: A. ALSTON, C. and M.
R. J. BLACK, D. C. and M.

GEORGE M. THEW, ASSIGNEE OF THE President, Directors and Company of the Bank of Augusta. In Equity. Vs. Archibald Boggs and Others, Creditors of said Corporation.

It appearing to the Court, by affidavit filed in pursuance of the rules of this Court, that Thomas Branch, James R. Branch, of the State of Virginia; William Dougherty, John A. James, William Peters, Linton J. Brown, Miles G. Dobbins, Lemuel P. Grant, Lewis J. Dupree, Thomas H. Clarke, Benjamin C. Yancey, James M. Hamilton, Stevens Thomas, Asbury C. Dearing, Young L. G. Harris, Robert Thomas, Benjamin F. Hardeman, Milledge Murphy, William Cliza, Charles G. Hillman, Andrew J. Cheeny, John C. Lee, Willis Kilgore, John Carter, William H. Murphy, Jasper N. Pitman, John W. Stewart, all of different counties in the State of Georgia, other than Richmond county; Thomas J. Matthews, of South Carolina; Robert A. Wash, of Missouri; William B. Sheppard, of Alabama; John Ramage and Hugh McRae, of Tennessee; John D. O'Leary, of Kentucky; and Benjamin F. Allen, of Iowa or Wisconsin, reside out of the county of Richmond, in which the above case, which has been filed in the Clerk's office of this Court, returnable at June Term, 1868, of said Court, has originated: It is therefore ordered that a copy of this order be served upon the said defendants, or published once a week for six weeks in some public gazette in the States of Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, Missouri, Iowa or Wisconsin, or an acknowledgment of service be obtained from said defendants; and that the said defendants do then appear and answer said bill at the said June Term, 1868, of this Court, or in default thereof, that said bill be taken as confessed against said defendants, and that said cause do then proceed without them.

GEORGIA, RICHMOND COUNTY,
Clerk's Office, Superior Court:

I, Lafayette McLaws, Clerk of said Court, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the order of said Court in the case stated, as recorded February 19, 1868, upon the Minutes of the Court folio (?25).

Witness my official signature and [SEAL] seal of said Court this 23d day of April, 1868.

Our Latest Improved
NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.
GROVESTEEN & CO.,
499 Broadway, N. Y.,

THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANOFORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its positiveness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners front and back, heavily carved legs and Lyre Serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years.

Trustee's Sale.

WHEREAS, John Overton did draw his accommodation bills on A. M. Hopkins, New Orleans, viz: One dated November 19, 1859, in favor of W. Bell, at 12 months after date, for $240 00; one dated November 10, 1859, at 12 months after date, in favor of Wm. Bell, for $2250 00; and one dated December 28, 1859, at 12 months after date, in favor of Wm. Bell, for $3400 00; and A. F. Hopkins did draw his accommodation bills on A. M. Hopkins, New Orleans, in favor of Wm. Bell, as follows: One dated January 6, 1860, at eleven months after date, for $2250 00; one dated December 8, 1859, at 12 months after date, for $1750 00; one dated March 12, 1860, at 12 months after date, for 250 00; one dated March 17, 1860, at ten months after date, for 2100 00; one dated March 19, 1860, at 60 days after date, for $2700 00; one dated December 19, 18 9, at 12 months after date, for $2580 00; one dated April 9, 1860, at 7 months after date, for $1000 00; and Thomas Bibb did draw his accommodation bills on A. M. Hopkins, New orleans, viz: One dated December 27, 1859, at 12 months after date in favor of himself; the said Thomas Bibb, for $2300 00; and one dated December 5, 1859, in favor of Thomas Bibb, at 12 months after date, for $7400 00; and R. C. Brinkley and drew his accommodation bill on A. M. Hopkins, New Orleans, in favor of R. P. Brinkley, dated December 25, 1859, at 12 months after date, for $1967 00; and A. M. Hopkins & Co. did make their note in favor of A. M. Hopkins, dated May 26, 1858, at 10 months after date, for $5434 77, which was duly endorsed by J. Dennison & Co., on which said A. M. Hopkins did pay the sum of $500 00.

And whereas, in order to secure and save harmless the said John Overton, Thomas Bibb, R. C. Brinkley and A. F. Hopkins, the drawers respectively of the aforesaid accommodation bills, and to secure also the said A. and J. Dennison & Co. on the note aforesaid, the said Arthur M. Hopkins did execute an indenture of Trust, dated the 8th day of February, 1861, by and in which he conveyed to Charles Kortrecht the premises situate in the county of Cook and State of Illinois, known and described as follows: "A certain piece or parcel of land lying and being near the city of Chicago, in the State of Illinois, and consisting of about ten acres, which was conveyed in fee simple by James W. Pyror, of the city of New York, to the said Arthur M. Hopkins, said conveyance being by deed of record in Cook county, Illinois, which said land is more fully described as blocks three (3) and four (4) of James W. Pyror's subdivision of the south-east quarter of section four (4), township thirty-eight (38) north, range fourteen (14) east of the third principal meridian, according to survey and map of the same, said to be deposited for record in the proper office for the recording of surveys and maps in Cook county, Illinois, said subdivision being immediately south of Egan avenue and west of the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad, and said block three (3) and four (4) contain, with the streets bounding on them, ten acres or thereabouts, being the land conveyed by said Arthur M. Hopkins by said James W. Pryor and Katherine M. Pryor, his wife, by their deed dated July 3, 1856, upon Trust; that in case a majority of the beneficiaries in said Indenture or Trust mentioned should direct a sale of said premises, then the said Charles Kortrecht was thereby authorized and instructed to sell said premises, at public auction, in the city of Memphis, State of Tennessee, after giving sixty days' notice in one or more of the newspapers published in said city of Memphis, of the time and place of said sale, said sale to be made for cash or upon a six months credit, as a majority of the beneficiaries in said Indenture of Trust named might direct, and out of the proceeds of said sale to pay the aforesaid accommodation bills and the note aforesaid, and to pay the remainder, if any, over to said Arthur M. Hopkins, his heirs or assigns; and to execute,
